THE ASTORIAN guarantees to its subscribers the largest circulation of any newspaper published on the Columbia river.
With the county recorder there were filed for record yesterday, two mortgages, amounting to $500.
Richard H. Keegan "proved up" yesterday on a pre-emption claim in section 20, township 5 north, range 7 west.
Alert Hook and Ladder Company are entitled to the credit of being the first company out yesterday in response to the fire alarm.
George Christensen, the ex-South Bend hotel waiter, was arraigned in the police court yesterday on a charge of forgery. The details of Christensen's crime were published in yesterday's ASTORIAN. The misguided young man was represented by Attorney M. F. Hardisty, and was allowed to stay in custody, at 7 o'clock, to plead to the charge.
A verdict for defendant was rendered by a jury in Judge Jewett's court yesterday in the suit of George Brown against Mrs. Rucker. The action was based on a claim for wages against G. W. Rucker, who formerly conducted a restaurant on Third street and the jury decided that Mrs. Rucker should not be held for her husband's debts. A counterclaim also figured in the case.
A. P. Sharpstein, manager of the Electric Power and Transit Company, let a contract yesterday to Messrs. Juppert & Herman, of this city, to grade 3,000 yards of the road bed of the electric railway. The contract calls for the finishing of the work in 85 days. Messrs. Juppert & Herman will begin this morning on their contract, employing about twenty men, and expect to finish their work in thirty days.
A careless guest in the Parker house laid a lighted cigarette down on an upholstered chair in one of the rooms yesterday noon and went out. An hour later an employee discovered the room full of smoke and the chair burning. A cry of fire was raised and an alarm sent in from box No. 6, bringing out the department. The fire was subdued by a member of Alert Hook and Ladder Company carrying out the chair. Loss nominal.
There is every reason to believe that all who attend the M. E. church this evening and listen to the lecture by Rev. Dr. Kummer, will have a literary treat, as the speaker is of undoubted ability, and the subject is one of unusual interest to every person who is either a husband or a wife, or who ever expects to be one in the near future. All will be desirous of hearing about an "Ideal Wife." Doors will be opened at 7:30 and the lecture will commence at 8 o'clock.
Another railroad is to be built in Pacific county. At least it is the avowed intention of a number of prominent residents of Seaside and Oysterville to do so. A few evenings ago a secret meeting of the largest property owners in Seaside and Oysterville, was held in the last named city. The matter was discussed and some subscriptions to the necessary fund were made. The proposed line will run from a connection with the I. R. & N. Co.'s line at Seaside, pass through Oysterville and on to Stackpole harbor.
This morning on the steamer R. R. Thompson, the "Hearts of Oak" company will arrive from Portland, bringing with them all the scenery for the admirable play they present at the opera house this evening. The piece was played by this company for one hundred nights at Fifth Avenue theater in New York, and the fact that it was so enthusiastically received there is a strong point in its favor. It moves the audience to alternate laughter and tears, and no finer company or better play has ever been seen in this city. It will be the dramatic event of the season.
Thanksgiving Dinner.
You ought to have one of those beautiful tablecloths with napkins to match only to be found at Shanahan Bros.

AN UNFORESEEN DISASTER.
Masonry Around the Court Street School Going to Pieces.
WHAT THE OFFICIALS SAY OF IT
The fine stone wall on the north and east sides of the Court street school lot, which was in course of construction during the last summer and fall, has been viewed with pride by residents of the district and has been the subject of much complimentary mention since its completion a few weeks ago.
The wall was built as a bulkhead for the block on which is situated the fine Court street school house which occupies such a slightly location and was intended to hold in place the earth to form ample and gently sloping grounds around the building.
The rains of the last two or three weeks have developed the fact that there are unforeseen forces operating against the wall which it has proved unable to withstand. The pressure on the inside of the wall on Benton street has moved it into the street about two inches at the north end and shown by a crack there, and this lateral movement is more or less apparent for about seventy-five feet along the street to the south. At the same time there has been a slight settling at the northeast corner, the effect of which is shown by cracks in the wall to the west and south for about forty feet. The wall on Court street does not seem to have suffered any movement except a slight settling at the northeast corner, mentioned above. On the Benton street side at the northeast corner the two top courses of stone and wide plank for a cap have moved east about four inches. Taking into consideration the fact that the rains have hardly commenced, it seems probable that when the earth inside the walls becomes thoroughly saturated with water later in the season, the wall being subjected to much greater pressure than now at the northeast corner, will be likely to yield altogether to the semiliquid earth back of it and precipitate an avalanche of mud and rock into the street.
It is believed that it will be useless to attempt to repair the injury before next summer as a portion of the wall will have to be entirely rebuilt.
Just who is to blame in the matter, if it be the fault of anyone, is not apparent although many citizens charged it to the contractor, the board of directors and the engineer, severally. Inquiry, however, discloses that the occurrence is due to natural causes unaccounted for, and that probably no one is to blame.
J. W. Conn, one of the directors of the school district thought that much ado was being made about nothing and that the wall would be put into shape at slight expense in the spring. The contractor, O. Boren, constructed the wall under plans and specifications prepared by the city engineer.
The wall cost in the neighborhood of $3,000, and it was remarked by some during its construction that it was being built unnecessarily heavy.
H. B. Thielson, the city engineer, stated that the contractor was in no way to blame for the mishap to the wall. "He," said the engineer, "built it under specifications prepared by myself and he did an excellent job, the construction being perfect."
The plans of the wall, Mr. Thielson stated, were made on standard rules, and with the object to withstand the pressure from the top that "would naturally be upon it. Whether the foundation was deep enough or not, it is at this time difficult to determine. At the time it was dug it appeared solid enough. Nowhere is the wall less than one foot below the grade, and where the grade was an embankment it should be a foot below solid ground. At the northeast corner the wall is three and one-half feet below the surface.
It seems to be one of those cases in which the best and most careful engineers are unable to provide against accident without expensive experiment which would cost as much or more than the repairs that may be necessary in this case. Some say that an ancient watercourse once went through the block in the vicinity of this sliding ground and it may be that that is a fact that will account for the late disastrous developments.

A ST. LOUIS PHYSICIAN.
He Tests a California Production—Its Report.
A St. Louis gentleman whose affliction was sick headaches was so surprised at their cure by Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, that he called it to the attention of a relative, who happened to be Dr. F. A. Barrett, the well-known St. Louis physician of 202 Second street. The doctor saw at once that it differed from the potato preparations in that it was purely vegetable, and becoming interested, began a series of investigations, and in a subsequent letter candidly admitted its curative properties, and said:
"Wishing to test its virtues further, I used it in my own family, and prescribed it for patients who required a general system regulator. As a result, I can say it is an almost absolute cure for constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, indigestion, and sick headaches. These troubles usually come from a disturbed condition of the stomach and bowels, and Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the best laxative and stomach regulator I have ever seen, and as a general system corrective is almost perfect."
